Thank you for the information you provided. Information the public shares helps us identify patterns of unlawful business practices that harm consumers. We regularly investigate and prosecute violations of consumer protection laws on behalf of the State of Oregon. We also share information with other agencies and use what we learn to educate the public and help pass laws that better protect consumers.

The Consumer Protection Section enforces specific consumer laws and does not have authority over many areas, including:

- Landlord-tenant issues
- Insurance
- Home owner associations
- Government agencies and officials
- Disputes between individuals
- Most business to business disputes

We reviewed the information you provided and determined that the issues raised by your complaint are outside our authority. Therefore, with this letter, we are closing our file. The information you provided will remain on file as a public record.

We have enclosed a list of additional resources that you may find helpful. If you have questions about your rights, we encourage you to promptly consult with a lawyer.

Thank you again for contacting us.
